PT ANZ Panin Bank to Change Name to PT Bank ANZ Indonesia (ANZ)

ANZ today announced that PT ANZ Panin Bank is changing its legal name to PT Bank ANZ Indonesia to reflect its continued growth, commitment and expansion strategy in Indonesia.

ANZ CEO Indonesia, Joseph Abraham said: "The new name reflects the increase of Australia and New Zealand Banking Group Limited's (ANZ Group) shareholding in PT Bank ANZ Indonesia, as well as our strong and continued commitment to Indonesia and our customers' growth. This also reaffirms our position as the largest Australia's service sector investor in Indonesia."

To ensure a smooth transition, customers can continue using ANZ ATM, debit and credit cards until their expiration dates. For its customers' convenience, ANZ will continue to honour and process checks, wires, and other electronic transactions drawn on and made payable to PT ANZ Panin Bank until advised otherwise.

ANZ continued to deliver strong results, with a total of AUD 84 million in revenues in the first quarter (October-December 2011), up 15% compared to its financial performance in the first quarter of 2010.

ANZ Group first established its presence in Indonesia in 1973 as ANZ Grindlays. Through its comprehensive network of 28 branches in 11 cities across Indonesia, PT Bank ANZ Indonesia will continue to provide its customers with a full-fledged banking suite covering consumer finance including credit card and personal loan and retail & wealth services, private banking, commercial banking and institutional banking, where the Bank is particularly focused on natural resources, infrastructure and export industries. PT Bank ANZ Indonesia is rated AAA (idn) by Fitch as per December 2011 and was recognised as the number one joint venture bank in Indonesia by Infobank magazine in 2011.
