

ANZ Bank New Zealand Limited

Key Rating Drivers

Support-Driven IDRs: The downgrade of ANZ Bank New Zealand's (ANZNZ) Issuer Default Ratings (IDRs)to 'A+' from 'AA-' follows similar action on its parent, Australia and New Zealand Banking Group Limited (ANZ; A+/Negative). ANZNZ's IDRs are aligned with ANZ, reflecting Fitch Ratings' view that it is a key and integral part of the group.

Strong Franchise, Simple Model: ANZNZ's strong domestic franchise, reflected in leading market shares in many products, means that it can maintain a simple business model. This in turn supports the financial profile and, ultimately, the Viability Rating (VR).

Economic Headwinds: We have revised the operating environment outlook for New Zealand banks to negative to reflect significant downside risk to our base-case expectations. Our base case expects a sharp economic contraction in 1H20 before a modest recovery starting in 2H20.

Asset Quality Pressured: We expect ANZNZ's asset quality to be pressured by the weaker economy. Government and bank actions should provide some offset, although it is unlikely to prevent a significant weakening of metrics over the next 12-18 months.

Lower Profitability: Higher impairment charges and lower interest rates will pressure ANZNZ's profitability over the next two years. The bank's franchise should support profitability in the longer-term.

Capitalisation Sufficient at VR: Fitch believes ANZNZ's capitalisation will remain consistent with the current VR despite asset quality weakening and lower earnings placing some pressure on ratios.

Wholesale Funding Reliance: Sound liquidity management and support from the central bank mean ANZNZ is unlikely to face short-term funding pressure. However, the offshore wholesale funding reliance is a weakness relative to many similarly rated international peers.

Rating Sensitivities

Changed Support Prospects: ANZNZ's IDRs and Outlooks are likely to be changed to reflect any movement in ANZ's ratings. ANZ's ratings could be pressured by economic conditions that significantly underperform our baseline case expectations. Growth to a level where ANZNZ's size relative to the ANZ group may limit the ability of ANZ to provide support may exert pressure on the ratings.

The Support Ratings and IDRs may also be downgraded should Fitch change its view on ANZNZ's importance to ANZ, or if there is a weakening in co-operation between the authorities in Australia and New Zealand which may indicate a reduced ability for ANZ to provide support in a timely fashion. However, neither of these scenarios is likely in our view.

Economic Shock: ANZNZ has sufficient headroom at the current VR to withstand our base-case scenario, with most factors scored in line with or above the VR. However, a more severe and prolonged downturn, resulting in only a shallow recovery in New Zealand in 2021, would put pressure on asset quality, earnings and possibly capitalisation, which may result in a downgrade.

How to Read This Page ESG scores range from 1 to 5 based on a 15-level color gradation. Red (5) is most relevant and green (1) is least relevant.

The Environmental (E), Social (S) and Governance (G) tables break out the individual components of the scale. The right-hand box shows the aggregate E, S, or G score. General Issues are relevant across all markets with Sector-Specific Issues unique to a particular industry group. Scores are assigned to each sector-specific issue. These scores signify the credit-relevance of the sector-specific issue to the issuing entity's overall credit rating. The Reference box highlights the factor(s) within which the corresponding ESG issues are captured in Fitch's credit analysis.

The Credit-Relevant ESG Derivation table shows the overall ESG score. This score signifies the credit relevance of combined E, S and G issues to the entity's credit rating. The three columns to the left of the overall ESG score summarize the issuing entity's sub-component ESG scores. The box on the far left identifies some of the main ESG issues that are drivers or potential drivers of the issuing entity's credit rating (corresponding with scores of 3, 4 or 5) and provides a brief explanation for the score.

Classification of ESG issues has been developed from Fitch's sector ratings criteria. The General Issues and Sector-Specific Issues draw on the classification standards published by the United Nations Priniciples for Responsible Investing (PRI) and the Sustainability Accounting Standards Board(SASB).

Sector references in the scale definitions below refer to Sector as displayed in the Sector Details box on page 1 of the navigator.

	CREDIT-RELEVANT ESG SCALE
How	relevant are E, S and G issues to the overall credit rating?
5	Highly relevant, a key rating driver that has a significant impact on the rating on an individual basis. Equivalent to "higher" relative importance within Navigator.
4	Relevant to rating, not a key rating driver but has an impact on the rating in combination with other factors. Equivalent to "moderate" relative importance within Navigator.
3	Minimally relevant to rating, either very low impact or actively managed in a way that results in no impact on the entity rating. Equivalent to "lower" relative importance within Navigator.
2	Irrelevant to the entity rating but relevant to the sector.
1	Irrelevant to the entity rating and irrelevant to the sector.

The ratings above were solicited and assigned or maintained at the request of the rated entity/issuer or a related third party. Any exceptions follow below.

A Fitch rating is an opinion as to the creditworthiness of a security. This opinion and reports made by Fitch are based on established criteria and methodologies that Fitch is continuously evaluating and updating. Therefore, ratings and reports are the collective work product of Fitch and no individual, or group of individuals, is solely responsible for a rating or a report. The rating does not address the risk of loss due to risks other than credit risk, unless such risk is specifically mentioned. Fitch is not engaged in the offer or sale of any security. All Fitch reports have shared authorship. Individuals identified in a Fitch report were involved in, but are not solely responsible for, the opinions stated therein. The individuals are named for contact purposes only. A report providing a Fitch rating is neither a prospectus nor a substitute for the information assembled, verified and presented to investors by the issuer and its agents in connection with the sale of the securities. Ratings are not a recommendation to buy, sell, or hold any security. Ratings do not comment on the adequacy of market price, the suitability of any security for a particular investor, or the tax-exempt nature or taxability of payments made in respect to any security. Fitch receives fees from issuers, insurers, guarantors, other obligors, and underwriters for rating securities. Such fees generally vary from US$1,000 to US$750,000 (or the applicable currency equivalent) per issue. In certain cases, Fitch will rate all or a number of issues issued by a particular issuer, or insured or guaranteed by a particular insurer or guarantor, for a single
