

Earn CPD points through ANZ's best practice broker series

ANZ has announced it is partnering with The Adviser to host a quarterly 'Business Leaders Boardroom Series' to help provide specialised business support and professional development to brokers.

You can now access online the first topic of the series - 'business planning' and get some tips and guidance on how to grow and manage your business – best of all you will be able to earn CPD points for completing the online webinar.

Other topics that will be rolled out throughout the year include recruitment and retention, mentoring and networking.

This new initiative reflects ANZ's ongoing commitment to brokers and is another way we are backing you up and supporting professional development in the industry.
