

The Mary Kibble Trust

The John And Mary Kibble Trust Fund

Benefactor history - John Dudley Nash Kibble: 1916 - 1994

John Kibble had a successful management career, having reached the position of Managing Director of an English trading company, and later appointed a Company Director for a large timber producer.

During his lifetime John and his wife Mary made regular donations to the RSPCA to aid veterinary research into canine medicine. Mary was a Life Member of the RSPCA in Queensland.

Beneficiaries

John established The Mary Kibble Trust to distribute funds to RSPCA organisations throughout Australia for the benefit of these beloved animals.

He also established the John and Mary Kibble Trust Fund to fund veterinary research and, in particular canine medicine or surgery at the University of Queensland.

Trust achievements

The Trust has supported post-graduate students to research various aspects of canine health: diseases affecting pure bred dogs, safe anaesthesia for dogs and multi-drug resistant infections to which dogs are vulnerable.

ANZ Trustees

We are specialists in providing full granting advisory services and specialist investment services to the charitable sector, with over 100 years of successfully managing funds for private charitable foundations and not-for-profit organisations. We currently manage over $1.3 billion on behalf of charitable foundations, trusts and not-for-profits, with funds ranging in size from less than $50,000 to over $150 million.

Our focus is on growing funds that can be distributed to charitable organisations and community projects to support lasting positive social change. Whether you're an individual wanting to create a lasting legacy or a not-for-profit with a goal for the future, ANZ Trustees can help you bring your vision to life, through our investment approach, charitable services and unparalleled granting expertise.

ANZ Trustees is a co-trustee and provides governance, investment and granting services for The Mary Kibble Trust and The John and Mary Kibble Trust Fund.
